WILL RE-OPEN SPRINGS HOTEL

Famous Hostelry will be Re-opened and Conducted as an Annex to Hotel Gettysburg. Repairing and Remodeling.

The Springs Hotel, remodeled and refurnished, is to be opened and ready for business Saturday of this week. It will be conducted as an annex to Hotel Gettysburg and will be under the management of Charles H. Slagle, of Shamokin, and John Robertson, of Gettysburg.

Repairs, additions and improvements are now in course of operation at the once popular resort and the place is to be fitted up to accommodate three hundred guests. Indications are that the famous hostelry, located a mile west of Gettysburg, is to be one of the principal places of interest here this summer.

There are 139 rooms in the structure. Twenty of these are to be furnished at once and the balance will be provided with cots. This will help in no small degree in the placing of persons coming for the celebration of the battle anniversary. Automobiles will be provided to convey the people between town and the hotel.

The dining room, always attractive, will be put back to its old-time appearance and the kitchen will be fully equipped. The former equipment of ranges and utensils was all disposed of some years ago. The entire interior of the building is being put in the very best of shape and the halls, which years ago were gay with visitors from many cities, will again be filled with guests.

While these improvements are in progress inside of the big hotel the grounds and the exterior of the hotel are all being put in shape. The grass has been mowed, the underbrush cleared away, the trees trimmed, a new road is under construction together with a new bridge. The porches have been repaired. All the smaller buildings are being given attention. The bath house will be prepared for use. The old well was cleaned out to-day, and water will be pumped to the hotel from this well by a gasoline engine which will also be used in the electric light plant which is to be installed.

The old flag pole will be replaced by a new one and an electric light will be placed on top of the pole. The springs are being thoroughly cleaned and the medicinal water, which for so many years has been known throughout the country, even since the closing of the hotel, will again be featured as one of the attractions of the place.

FAMILY HOMELESS

Dwelling of Curtis Deatrick, Near East Berlin, Destroyed.

On Saturday the two-story frame dwelling of Curtis Deatrick, near East Berlin, was destroyed by fire, together with the contents, with the exception of a couch and a few small articles. Loss about $2,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Deatrick were in a field planting corn, some distance from the house, and about 11 o'clock they sent their 10-year-old daughter to the house to prepare dinner. The child started a fire and soon after discovered the roof of the building was ablaze, evidently catching fire from sparks. She hurriedly called her parents, but they arrived too late to save the building, as the fire had gained such headway that Mr. Deatrick could not enter the house.

Fifty dollars, which Mr. Deatrick had saved to make some improvements to his home, also fell a prey to the flames.

BETTER BUSINESS

Mountain Cottages will be Occupied this Coming Summer.

All indications point to more people as summer visitors to the mountains for the season than for many years. It is said that every cottage in the Blue Ridge Summit, Monterey and Highland sections will be occupied by owners or tenants. This will be an improvement over the conditions there the past few years. The new trolley to Monterey lane, which gives direct access to the Blue Ridge Summit section, will stimulate activity there. The same story of every cottage being occupied comes from Pen-Mar.

OLD VETERANS STILL BITTER

Both North and South Give Vent to their Feelings. Northerner won't March with Southern Flag. The Southern View.

The bitter feeling between North and South is far from being a thing of the past if sentiments expressed by veterans of both sides during the past week, in connection with the coming anniversary celebration, are to be taken as any indication. The Richmond, Virginia, "Times-Dispatch" of Saturday said:

That there is one faction of the United Confederate Veterans which bitterly opposes the mingling of Southern veterans with the Grand Army of the Republic, in the semi-centennial celebration of the Battle of Gettysburg on July 1-4 became known last night in Lee Camp when warm words were exchanged between General J. Thompson Brown, St. George T. C. Bryan and Dr. Landon R. Mason.

"To my mind," said Mr. Bryan, with heat, "it is impossible for any veteran of the Confederate army to accept the hospitality of the Grand Army posts in any shape or form. I know many of my comrades are going to Gettysburg in July; they may be right, but I differ from them. The men of the North do not understand the motives which actuated us in 1863; they have been deceived in our regard, and, therefore, we cannot meet them yet on fair and equitable footing. I do not see how any man who came back in April of 1865 to smoking ruins and desolated fields, six bitter years of reconstruction and remembers the wormwood of those days, can celebrate side by side with the victors our defeat in the most important battle of the war."

Before General J. Thompson Brown, who represents Virginia on the Gettysburg commission, could reply, Dr. Mason added fuel to the flames.

"I am no advocate of strife," said Dr. Mason, "and I honestly desire the peace of all the world, but it appears to me that such attempts at fraternizing with our friends, the enemy, can never accomplish what they are intended to effect. Such meetings cannot in reality heal the deep, ugly wound of the war. In my mind, they only effect a superficial healing of the sore, leaving beneath the surface the smarting, irritating pus. I, for one, cannot go to Gettysburg where the Grand Army will celebrate with festive the battle which broke the backbone of the Confederacy, while we recall it only with tears of deep sorrow."

The reply of General Brown to these two speakers was brief:

"We are not going to Gettysburg to unite with an enemy which will rejoice in our mortification. We will meet there the men of an army whose leader, 'Fighting Joe' Hooker, declared us to be the most efficient and determined soldiers of ancient or modern times. Throw away your pick and shovel, and do not undermine the monument which we hope to unveil to our commander, Robert E. Lee, on the field of Gettysburg next July. Where General Lee is, I am not afraid to go."

From the applause which greeted this speech, it appeared that the majority of those present favored the Gettysburg joint encampment. At its last meeting, Lee Camp appointed D. A. Brown, Jr., a committee to urge the City Council to appropriate $2,000 for traveling expenses of veterans, living in Richmond, who are unable to afford the trip to Gettysburg.

The Akron, Ohio, Beacon Journal of May 9 said:

"We will not go to Gettysburg, and march under the Confederate flag that we fought so long and hard to eliminate," said W. H. Siegfried of Barberton, an old battle-scarred veteran of the Civil War, in speaking this morning of the proposition of the government to pay the expenses of every old soldier to and from the field of Gettysburg, where so many Summit county soldiers fought and gave their lives for the cause of liberty. A dozen veterans from Barberton had expected to make the trip to the national re-union in July, but upon hearing that the Southern soldiers would also march, and carry their Rebel flags, the Barberton men held a protest meeting one night this week, and declared that inasmuch as they had no love for the Rebel flag, and did not feel it was proper for the government to allow it to be floated, and fearing that there might be trouble, every one to a man decided that they would forego the pleasure of grasping old soldiers in arms by the hand, singing the old songs, and telling the strange tales of the Civil War.

WILL COMMENCE TICKET SELLING

Local Committee in Charge of Selling Tickets for Chautauqua Prepare for the Work. Rates to be Charged this Summer.

The ticket selling campaign for the local Chautauqua, opening here on August first, is to be started within the next few days and will be in charge of the following committee: Wm. Arch McClean, C. S. Reaser, E. P. Miller, R. C. Miller, J. A. Cox, C. B. Dougherty and C. C. Culp. They will be assisted by a number of local teachers and members of the Parent-Teachers' Association. The local committee feels that it is offering a specially strong course this year. The various attractions were announced in these columns several weeks ago.

Adult season tickets cost two dollars. The season ticket, although transferable, will admit but one person to each session of the Chautauqua. That is to say, not more than one person will be admitted on the same ticket to the same session. Single admissions will aggregate over five dollars; or in other words the rate of admission without the season ticket is two and a half times as much when paid singly.

Children under fifteen years of age get their season ticket at half price, one dollar. A special attraction is offered on behalf of the children in the Junior Chautauqua which will hold its sessions each morning of the Chautauqua week. All children holding the season ticket will be admitted to the Junior Chautauqua free of charge. This will consist of talks to children, hikes through the woods and fields, games, etc., under the guidance and direction of experts in work among children.

The children's chorus to be trained in the Summer School should likewise be a source of inspiration to the young people as they will give a performance on Tuesday evening. Children belonging to the chorus will be admitted on Tuesday evening no matter whether they have Chautauqua tickets or not. Miss Krumme, the Summer School music teacher, is at present preparing a chorus with two thousand children.

The tickets will be delivered on and after July 10th and no money will be required before that time.

WAS AN ACCIDENT

Farmer Broke Oil Pipe Line While Dynamiting Stumps.

A Waynesboro paper told, a few days ago, of the alleged blowing up of a Pure Oil pipe line, near Hanover, by a farmer with dynamite. It was informed that he put dynamite under the pipe line because the pipe leaked and he wanted to get rid of the annoyance. It is now told that the farmer was shooting stumps with dynamite and, forgetting about the oil line, got too close to it with one of his blasts, with the result that the pipe was broken and the oil flowed out over his land. This was the first leak in the line.

LINCOLN BEACHEY.
Aviator Says Crowds Are Anxious to See Him Die.

BEACHEY SAYS HE WILL NEVER FLY AGAIN

Appalled by Deaths of His Brother Aviators.

San Francisco, Cal., May 13.—Lincoln Beachey, aviator, will never fly again, according to his statement at the Olympic club.

"You could not make me enter an aeroplane at the point of a revolver," he solemnly asserted. "I'm done. They called me the master birdman, but there was just one thing which drew crowds to my exhibitions—a morbid desire to see something happen. They all predicted I would be killed and none wanted to miss getting in on it. They paid to see me die. They bet and the odds were against my life."

Beachey read a roster of twenty-four aviators who have been killed when flying.

"These boys were like brothers to me," he said. "In Chicago last September Kearney's mother begged me not to teach Horace any more tricks. Kearney turned and said: 'Mother, I must be a top-liner. I must be as good as Beachey or take a back seat. I must try the same tricks he does.' Three months later he was dead."

"The wife of Welsh begged him to cut out the spiral. 'Beachey does them,' he said. 'I must do them if I am to get the money.' Charlie was doing the reverse spiral two weeks later at Trenton, N. J., a wire snapped; they picked him up dead. I felt that I had murdered poor Charlie."

"A few days later his body passed through Albuquerque, where I was, with his widow and two babies. Mrs. Welsh became hysterical. 'You made Charlie do it,' she said."

"Some time later I sent some tickets to Mrs. Ely. She sent them back, writing: 'Eugene would be with me now if he had never seen you fly.'"

"At Tanforan last November, when I heard the boys talking of trying the straight glide, I wanted to quit. After the first day I could hardly work. I was in the grip of fear—not for myself, but that I would make others kill themselves. When I left the field I vowed I never would step into an aeroplane again."

Many tourists, among them several Americans, climbed the volcano.

IS CONFIDENT IN LAND BILL SNARL

Wilson Says Negotiations Haven't Entered Serious Phase.

HINGES ON NATURALIZATION

Japan's Protest Is Not Based on Treaty, But Upon Effort to Discriminate on Ground of Ineligibility to Citizenship.

Washington, May 13.—President Wilson believes negotiations between Japan and the United States over the alien land legislation in California is not in an alarming stage, but that the interchange of views thus far had been along frank and friendly lines. He appeared confident that a satisfactory adjustment would be accomplished.

The president took the position that the Webb bill would not violate the treaty between Japan and the United States. He intimated that Japan's protest was not based upon the treaty, but upon the feeling that there was an effort to discriminate against Japanese on the ground of their alleged ineligibility to citizenship.

The president revealed that the question of naturalization had not yet entered the discussion, but that, underlying the bill, it was realized that federal courts had not finally passed upon the question of eligibility.

It was upon the basis that Japanese were not accorded the privileges of citizenship that the appearance of discrimination written in the bill had arisen and it was intimated at the White House that for the present the hope was that the legislation in California either would be vetoed or delayed by a referendum to permit the smoothing over of some features of the situation.

The conferences thus far between Secretary Bryan and Viscount Chinda were described as being those of "one gentleman to another," many diplomatic formalities even being dispensed with.

The intimations that the protest was couched neither in vigorous nor aggressive language, but was formal and friendly in character, came from the president, and it was pointed out that the phrase "a very earnest protest," employed by Secretary Bryan in his message to Governor Johnson was the description of the note which the American government had entertained rather than the emphasis of the Japanese ambassador.

The fact that Secretary Bryan addressed an appeal to Governor Johnson, of California, to veto the Webb bill, inasmuch as the governor had unofficially at least repeatedly declared his purpose to sign the measure, is taken in official circles as indicating either that some powerful influences have been brought to bear upon the governor in the interest of delay, or more probably that the Wilson administration is perfecting its record.

Thirty Days Remain For Action. Sacramento, Cal., May 13.—A referendum on the alien land bill has been determined on by the Democratic leaders. The bill reached Governor Johnson yesterday from the committee on enrolled bills, where it has been held up. The session of the legislature ended yesterday, so that under the constitution thirty days remain in which the governor may sign or veto the bill.

New Mexico Beckons to Japanese. Carlsbad, N. M., May 13.—The Carlsbad chamber of commerce has extended an urgent invitation to Japanese farmers in California to emigrate to New Mexico and take up homes in the lower Pecos valley. The invitation was sent to F. J. Lukins, Japanese commercial representative at Los Angeles. Mr. Lukins, accompanied by a delegation of Japanese, is expected to arrive in Carlsbad this week to look over the valley, with a view to establishing a large Japanese colony in or near Carlsbad.

By order of the board of health the bodies were buried immediately without any public services. Nearly 400 cases of the disease have been reported in the town. No church or Sunday school services were held Sunday and the public library and schools are all closed.

Typhoon Sweeps Philippines. Manila, Philippines, May 13.—The worst typhoon experienced in years struck the islands, causing many deaths and wrecking several small steamers and numerous lighter craft.

The known fatalities at sea total fifty-eight, but the total death list of the storm is swelling with incoming reports. It is believed no Americans lost their lives.

PEACE DELEGATES VISIT MR. WILSON

Foreign Envoys Approve Vice President's Views.

Washington, May 13.—The international peace delegates who are perfecting plans for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent and of peace among English-speaking peoples in December next, came to Washington and called upon President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and other officers of the government.

The delegates called upon Secretary Bryan immediately after their arrival and were received by him in his offices in the state department. He told them that in the long continued peace between the United States and Great Britain there was a lesson for all nations, and this theme he elaborated later in his address at the banquet. Lord Weardale, head of the British delegation, made a brief response.

When the party arrived at the capitol later, the house of representatives was about to convene, but the delegates were received by Speaker Clark in his office. He had them escorted to the house gallery, where they remained until the brief session ended. A visit to the congressional library occupied a brief space before a visit to Vice President Marshall was made.

Apparently what Mr. Marshall had to say made a deep impression upon the delegates. There were nods of approval and several of the callers made audible comments, agreeing with expressions of the vice president. Mr. Marshall said he was convinced that practically all differences between nations are possible of settlement if submitted to the arbitrament of fair-minded men.

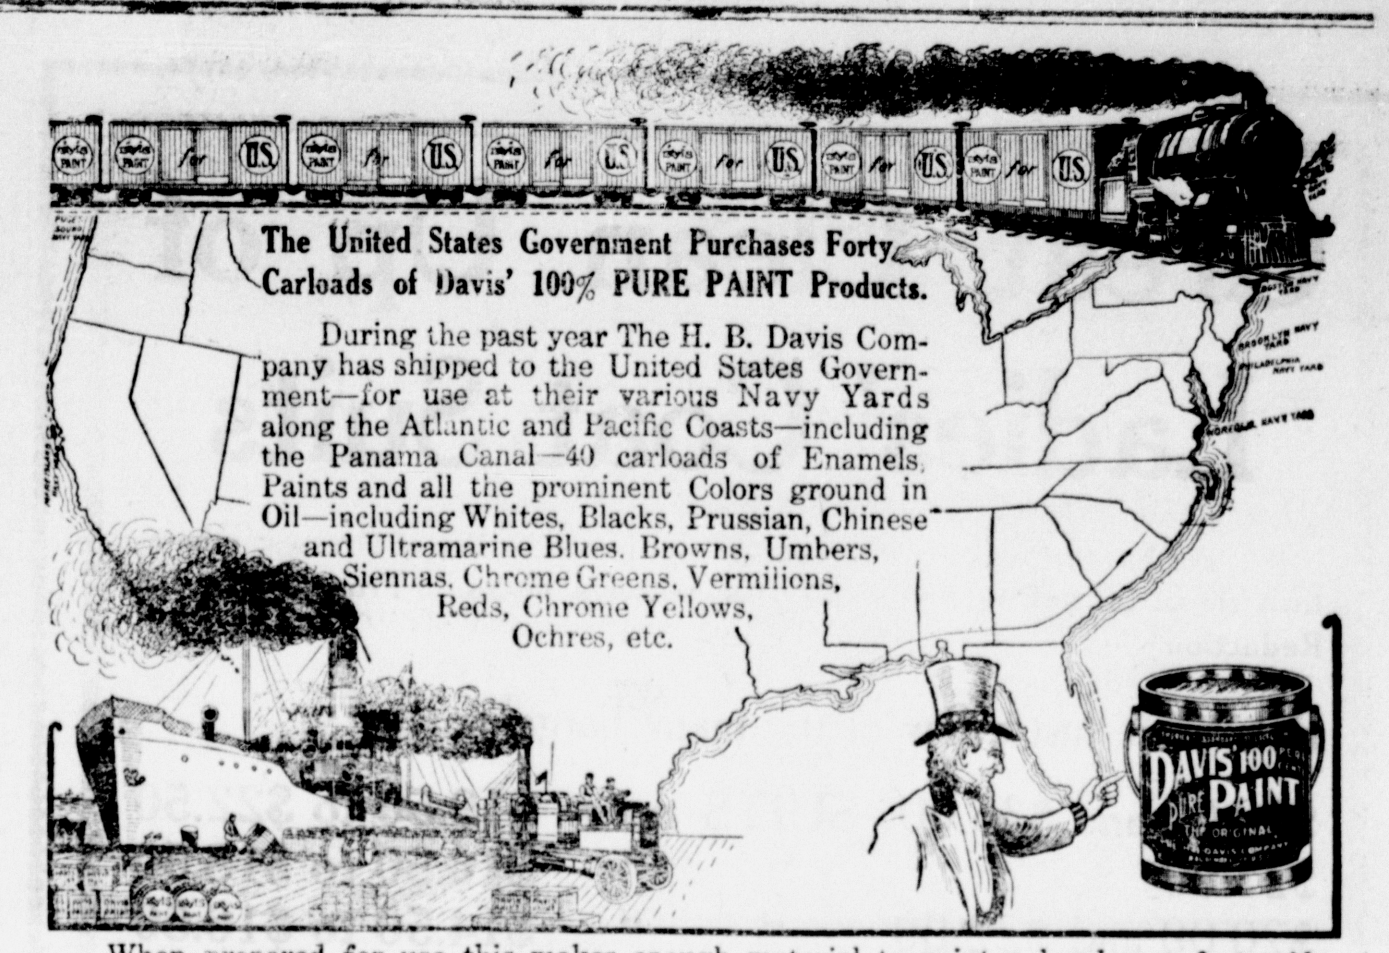

A statement outlining the proposed plan for the celebration of the centenary in all English-speaking countries was made public by Andrew B. Humphrey, secretary of the American committee. This will be submitted to the respective governments with the request that it be approved and aid in carrying it out be given.

Five Killed by Lightning. Tulsa, Okla., May 13.—Five men were killed by lightning, many oil tanks and wells were set on fire, power plants were damaged and other havoc was wrought at a terrific electrical and wind storm that swept the Tulsa oil district.

NO MORE HANGING

No More Executions of that Sort after Bill becomes a Law.

The House voted, 150 to 2, to supply the gallows with the electric chair. A similar bill was defeated in 1911, but it is expected the present bill will become a law. It provides that every person convicted of murder shall suffer the death penalty by having passed "through the body of the convict a current of electricity of intensity sufficient to cause death." Punishment must be inflicted in the new penitentiary being built in Centre county by the warden or deputy warden. The measure also prohibits the public from witnessing electrocutions. The warden, a physician, a spiritual adviser when requested and selected by the convict, six adult citizens selected by the warden, not more than six newspaper men and the officers of the prison are the only persons who shall be permitted to witness an electrocution.

PENN GROVE CAMP

Expect Good Attendance and Fine Addresses this Year.

Arrangements are being made for the annual meeting of the Penn Grove Assembly from July 25 to August 3. Rev. E. H. Hummelbaugh, of Frederick, and Rev. J. R. Hutchinson, of Gettysburg, were in York several days ago to make final preparations for the opening, and ordered the grounds to be placed in first class condition for the assembly meetings. The camp meeting grounds will open for the cottagers on July 1st.

The committee on arrangements has almost completed the program, which will bring some of the best speakers of the country to the camp and special arrangements have also been made for the music. The reservation of cottages is better this year than for a long time, and it is expected that all of the cottages will be taken before the opening of the camp. Plans are being made for a number of tenters, who will camp at the one end of the grounds, living a life in the open.

UNDERGROUND ULSTER.

Puzzling Rarities of Ancient Ways of Living in Ireland.

Curious underground passages called "souterrains" exist in many parts of Ulster. They are built or dug a few feet below the ground and laid out with chambers and possible hiding places or bolting holes, according to more or less well defined plans. They are not large enough for a man to stand upright in. He would have to crawl on his hands and knees to explore them or to make use of them in any way.

Some districts are honeycombed with them. What could they have been used for? Not for living in, though primitive pottery has been found in them; not for the dead, though some Etruscan burial places were not dissimilar, because no bones have been found; possibly for refuges. Some of the souterrains are fifty to seventy feet long.

Irish and local tradition attribute them to the fairies, the good people, the Danes—like the Essex Dene-holes, which are probably only chalk pits—or, in rare instances, to the Picts. But the Danes referred to by the Irish country people are not the modern Danes, but probably the Tuatha de Danaan, a people who are said to have lived in Ireland before the coming of the Celts. They are the "fairies" and are said to have been of small stature, like "children," the country people will tell one. To superstition no doubt is owing the preservation of these most puzzling relics of some bygone way of living.—London Family Herald.

WOLF HUNTS IN LAPLAND.

Reindeer Must Be Protected as They Are the Nation's Wealth.

The Swedish Lapps are said to live entirely with, by and upon their reindeer. A Lapp who owns a thousand deer is a rich man, but as taxes are assessed upon the number of deer he is inclined to underestimate his herd.

The most dangerous enemy of the herd is the wolf, which can kill any deer. A band of wolves can make a rich Lapp poor.

When the snow is deep and soft and it is announced that wolf tracks have been seen in the neighborhood of the deer the swiftest runners on snowshoes prepare for an exciting chase.

The wolf may have a start of a mile or two, but the track it leaves in the deep, soft snow is so conspicuous that the hunters can follow it at their best speed. The wolf, though he may run swiftly, has but a slight chance of escaping his pursuers on their snowshoes.

Each hunter does his best to outrun the others, for the wolf belongs to the Lapp who strikes the first blow. As soon as the leading hunter is close enough to the wolf he gives it a heavy blow across the loins with his strong, spiked snowshoe staff. If there are other wolves to be pursued he kills it outright. If not, he disables it and waits till all the hunters have arrived before giving the death stroke.—Pittsburgh Press.

The Scrap Book

August 31.
A German whose first name is August runs a saloon in Sioux City. One day last June the landlord called to collect the rent and before leaving said:

"Say, August, after the first day of July I'll have to charge you $15 a month more than you are paying now. The paying on this street has cost me a good deal, and now the gas company is raising its rates, and I've gotta have more rent."

"Well," said August, "that's all right." A little later the barkeeper came over to August's desk and said:

"Say, August, the cost of living is goin' up so fast that I gotta have more wages. After the first of July I want $10 more a month."

"Well," said August, "I guess that will be all right." The next day the representative of the brewery called to collect for the beer, and when he was writing the receipt he said:

"Say, August, hops is darned scarce this year, and after the 1st of July we've got to have $1.25 a barrel more for the suds."

"Well," said patient August, "I guess that is all right."

August sat and figured a little while, then took his hat and went out. Pretty soon he returned with a new sign, which he hung over the bar, and this is what it contained:

"After the first of July will be the last of August"—Saturday Evening Post.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Utensil Quarters and Cores Apples at One Stroke.

An effective apple cutter and corer has been devised by a Utah man. Four blades that bisect two diameters of a circle are set into a wooden handle. At the bottom of the blades is an open circular cutter, and their inner corners join it. To use this implement set an apple on the table, stem up. Place the circular cutter in the center so that the core will be encircled by it and then press downward. The circular cutter takes out the core as neatly as can be, while the four blades separate the fruit into quarters with equal neatness and dispatch. With this little utensil a dozen apples can be quartered and cored while one or two are being done by hand.

For the past three years the Massachusetts experiment station has been testing out the question of the interference of alfalfa roots with systems of the drain. It was found that when nothing was done to prevent it the roots seriously clogged the tile, but that the roots could be kept out of the drains by covering the tile at the time of laying with excelsior or sawdust soaked with creosote.
